

Antigua Corporate Reselling Policy

We at Antigua are pleased to offer you our brand found at fine golf retailers and team shops for every major professional sport. We understand that this supports a high-perceived value and allows you to make attractive margins with the line. In order to maintain the integrity of the brand we must be strategic about where the brand is placed. With this in mind we have established the following policy regarding reselling Antigua product:

1. Antigua is seeking partners to sell the Antigua line to corporate end-users. We have a sales force under contract selling to golf professional shops, off-course golf shops, colleges, universities, resorts, spas, casinos, professional sports teams, sporting goods retailers, and team shops. We will not allow our distributor partners to compete with our own sales reps in these marketplaces.
2. Antigua product is not to be sold via a reseller into discount stores, off-price retailers or Internet retailers.
3. Antigua has the right to review (at our expense) the quality of decoration being applied to our products by either a customer or a third party.
4. Antigua will not be responsible for order discrepancies after decoration. All orders must be checked for accuracy prior to any decoration or other altering.

These guidelines are intended to benefit all involved and protect the integrity of the Antigua brand. Violation of this policy will give Antigua the right to close the account in question.

I have read and understand this policy.
